

Decoprint recruits: digital print operator

Decoprint is a thriving company borne by people with a passion for wallpaper. Both in production, design and sales, we strive for perfection and as a team we look for the best quality for our customers.

A company with short lines of communication, great flexibility and where customers are highly valued.

Our driving force? The desire to inspire. Surrounding people with positive emotions through our original designs, colours and materials. Sharing our craftsmanship and knowledge with customers in order to achieve the best possible result is our central focus.

We want to realise this from our own production facility in Zele, because this is the only way we can check the smallest details and refine them even further. Moreover, we focus on the use of innovative and environmentally-friendly techniques, so that the next generation can continue the work with passion.
